INFORMACIÓN EN ESPAÑOL EN EL INTERIOR

Did you know the amount of waste created during the holiday season (from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day) increases between 25-43%? You can decrease waste by rethinking gifts and decor this holiday season. What does that look like exactly? It can be as simple as looking for resale, repair, repurpose, and refill options instead of buying something new! Explore the treasures of a local thrift or antique store, or perhaps a loved one has a special item that needs to be repaired. These types of gifts are often very meaningful. Local nonprofit, Reuse Alliance, maintains a directory of reuse practitioners and hosts repair fairs. Learn more at their website ReuseAlliance.org.

California law requires food scraps and food soiled paper products to stay out of your garbage cart. Kitchen pails make it easy to transport compostable items to your green cart. Line your pail with newspaper, keep liquids to a minimum, and rinse it regularly to avoid odors.

La ley de California exige que los restos de comida y los productos de papel contaminados con alimentos no lleguen al carrito de basura. Los cubos de cocina facilitan el transporte de artículos compostables a su carrito ecológico. Cubra su cubo con periódico, mantenga el líquido al mínimo y enjuáguelo regularmente para evitar olores.

ZERO WASTE SCHOOLS ESCUELAS CERO BASURA

We sat down with Lisa Clarke, founder of Sustainable Marin Schools, to learn more about the resounding success of her sustainability programs in Novato schools. Below is an excerpt, read the full article to learn how to bring it to a school near you at Recology.com/Recology_News/Zero-Waste-Schools/.

Clarke's approach centers on fostering a sense of responsibility in students. "The thing I love about the kids is they care and they see results and they make conclusions on their own," she says. By involving students in every aspect of the programs, Sustainable Marin Schools is cultivating a generation of environmentally conscious citizens who are equipped to tackle the challenges of the future.

Clarke is eager to share her insights and experiences with other parents and school staff looking to embark on their own sustainability journeys. Her tips include: 1. Engage school staff by getting buy-in from key people; 2. engage students through presentations or by being present at lunchtime; 3. think Long-Term by developing self sustaining programs; 4. embrace a "Can-Do" attitude and don't be deterred by lack of resources or experience.
